American Bombing in Afghanistan indicates Hidden Deal with Pakistan to Stop Jihad

America's dropping of its largest bomb, the MOAB, in eastern Afghanistan is further evidence of a new secret understanding between America and Pakistan. Despite severe pressure from the Taliban Mujahideen in southern Afghanistan, America has chosen to undertake an intensive military campaign in eastern Afghanistan instead. According to the New York Times:

The strike on Thursday targeted a set of mountain tunnels in the Achin district, a stronghold of the Islamic State's regional affiliate, and it was the first use in combat of the GBU-43/B Massive Ordnance Air Blast, referred to as the "mother of all bombs." The bombing was part of an intense air campaign against the Islamic State, with American airstrikes in Afghanistan averaging as many as 10 a day in the first two weeks of April.

The Pakistani government has long complained about the presence of militant bases in eastern Afghanistan used to target Pakistani military and civilian targets. Although the Pakistani media attributes such bases to Indian and Afghan sponsorship, it is evident that the continued existence of these bases would not have been possible without tacit American support.

America's entire Afghan policy is in crisis because of the increasing strength of the Afghan jihad. It is apparent therefore that America's decision to move against the very small presence of ISIS instead is part of a deal with Pakistan, according to which Pakistan will work to interfere with the Afghan jihad.

Pakistan is the reason that America is in Afghanistan. It was the Pakistani regime of Pervez Musharraf that provided the gateway for American forces to enter Afghanistan. And now it will be the Pakistani regime of Nawaz Sharif that will secure America's presence in Afghanistan.

America Succeeds in Intensifying Tensions over North Korea

Despite Western rhetoric, it is well known that the disbelieving Western imperial states, primarily Britain and America, try their best to foster problems, tensions, conflicts, and political vacuums throughout the world in order to find a way to involve themselves globally. The American policy towards North Korea is just one example of this. Rather than work sincerely towards a peaceful solution, America deliberately stokes the Korean conflict, provoking North Korea into ever greater escalation, only so that America can increase its presence on China's border. China knows this well. According to Reuters:

China said on Friday tension over North Korea had to be stopped from reaching an "irreversible and unmanageable stage" as a U.S. aircraft carrier group steamed toward the region amid fears the North may conduct a sixth nuclear weapons test.

Concern has grown since the U.S. Navy fired 59 Tomahawk missiles at a Syrian airfield last week in response to a deadly gas attack, raising questions about U.S. President Donald Trump's plans for North Korea, which has conducted missile and nuclear tests in defiance of U.N. and unilateral sanctions.

The United States has warned that a policy of "strategic patience" is over. U.S. Vice President Mike Pence travels to South Korea on Sunday on a long-planned 10-day trip to Asia.

China, North Korea's sole major ally and neighbor which nevertheless opposes its weapons program, has called for talks leading to the denuclearization of the Korean peninsula.

"We call on all parties to refrain from provoking and threatening each other, whether in words or actions, and not let the situation get to an irreversible and unmanageable stage," Chinese Foreign Minister Wang Yi told reporters in Beijing.

The root of the world's misery is not the American or British regimes only, but the secular Capitalist ideology that has compromised with atheist materialist values, resulting in rapacious Western elites that relentlessly strive to consume ever increasing wealth and power. The world will be unable to return to the peace and prosperity that existed before the beginnings of Western colonialism in the 18th century until the re-establishment of the righteous Islamic Khilafah state working on the method of the Prophet (s.a.w.).

Russia issues Fake Warning while working hand-in-glove with America in Syria

Russia has issued a warning to America in the aftermath of its attack on a Syrian airfield in response to the alleged use of chemical weapons on its own population by the Assad regime. According to the Independent Newspaper:

Russia's foreign minister Sergey Lavrov has strongly warned the United States against launching new strikes on Syria.

Mr Lavrov, who hosted representatives from Iran and Syria in Moscow on Friday, said that further US intervention in Syria would entail "grave consequences not only for regional but global security".

"We have reiterated our position that the attack was an act of aggression, which blatantly violated the principles of international law and the United Nations Charter."

In fact, Russia has been working closely with America in Syria, and these empty statements follow on the visit to Moscow of US Secretary of State Rex Tillerson. Furthermore the American strike itself was militarily insignificant. As reported in Politico:

Washington notified Russian authorities to warn them of the impending attack so Russian military personnel could be evacuated. Just as everyone should have expected, the Russians notified the Syrians, who reportedly moved their most important aircraft elsewhere before the strike. The very next day, Syrian airplanes were once again flying from the base to hit rebel targets.

Despite the 'humanitarian' face that America attempts to present to the world, it is America that stands behind Russia in Syria, and it is America that stands behind the bloodthirsty Assad regime. America is struggling to hold onto its empire in the Muslim world as the falsehood and evil of the Western superpower is becoming exposed for all to see. As Muslims continue a renewed Islamic renaissance, their rejection of Western-imposed regimes is becoming ever more intense. It is only a matter of time before America and her agents are completely ejected from Muslim lands.
