

Who Is Being Served by the Grain Corridor Opened by Turkey?

News:

An agreement was signed in Istanbul between Russia and Ukraine through the mediation of the United Nations (UN) and Turkey for the resumption of grain exports from Ukrainian ports. The President of Turkey Recep Tayyip Erdogan who held a speech before signing, evaluated the day of signature of the grain agreement as “a historic day”, and said that the agreement will contribute to the prevention of starvation which awaits billions of people all over the world. Comment:

The blockage issue applied by Russia to the ships loaded with grain that were waiting at Ukrainian ports in reply to the sanctions of the US and European Union, became temporarily solved by the Grain Corridor Agreement signed through the mediation of Turkey. According to the agreement, 20 to 25 million tons of grain blocked in Ukraine could be exported. Russia's grain and fertilizer export that was restricted because of the sanctions towards Russia, will be made easier again.

After the agreement, the US being in the first place, the United Nations, NATO, European Union and Russia expressed their satisfaction and thanked Turkey. And Turkey brought out the issue in terms of the danger of starvation and human dimension, and tried to conceal its special political role given by America. Turkey's so-called political role, includes being a mediating country that could establish a dialogue with Russia when there is a development which could interrupt the American plans and interests in the process of Russia's invasion of Ukraine. Its interferences on its political power regarding the grain crisis and the results it has achieved are a clear indication of Turkey's role. With his statements “Turkey is ready to play any role it could in reducing the tension between Russia and Ukraine. We do this as an ally of Russia and Ukraine, in addition to the fact of being a NATO ally.” (Türkiye Gazetesi 20.01.2022), the Presidential Spokesperson Ibrahim Kalin had officially uttered the international role given to Turkey during his speech at a panel held by a London centred think-tank named Circle Foundation, one month before Russia's invasion of Ukraine.

As a matter of fact, with the agreement signed in Istanbul with Turkey's initiatives, Russia has been prevented from using the grain issue as a political trump as it has done in the matter of oil and natural gas.

Although Russia stated that it was pleased with the agreement, it hit the Ukrainian port of Odessa with cruise missiles a day later, sending a message that it would use the grain issue as a trump whenever it wanted. How interesting that while the Turkish Ministry of Defense was trying to circumvent the situation by saying Russia doesn't accept the attack on the port of Odessa, Russia clearly stated that it carried out the attack. Because Turkey knows that a failure of the agreement will wherret the togetherness between America and Europe. And Russia thinks that when the grain crisis continues, Europe's economic troubles will increase much more and in this way it will put pressure on America in the matter of easing the sanctions towards Russia. Because the inflation which has risen to 9 per cent in the Euro area bothers the European people. Therefore, by means of the grain crisis, Russia expressed Europe's sore points and has shown what it could do. And by means of the agreement signed in Istanbul, it has removed the sanctions imposed on its own grain, fertilizer and related products beside Ukrainian grain.

As for America, it has failed to meet its commitments to Europe in exchange for marching with itself in the Russia-Ukraine war. Because the price of the Russia-Ukraine war is not paid by the United States, but by the European Union countries, which are dependent on Russia in the field of energy and food. For this reason, resolving the grain crisis is important for Europe to continue to move in the US orbit. However, it is unfortunate that these important interests of the colonist infidel US are being realized by Turkey by hiding behind humanitarian arguments. However, the same Turkey did not take any action while the cities where the Syrian people lived were blockaded by infidel Russia and the Assad regime. Again, Turkey did not play its vital role today when thousands of Muslims in Syria starved to death because they did not have access to food. And the help of the United Nations was sending body bags to the Syrian people.

So, the Grain Corridor Agreement signed in Istanbul is not to protect the people from the danger of starvation, but to protect the interests of America and the blasphemous west. Because the states that adopted the capitalist ideology never think about the humanity. In the world today where they rule, 821 million people are condemned to starvation. The only thing which is holy to them, is their colonist interests and corrupt rulership.

And the only state that will treat the human as human and save the world from artificial crises created by colonist infidels, is the Khilafah Rashidah (rightly guided Caliphate) State on the method of the Prophethood which is the mark of mercy, abundance and justice.
